CHECKS

*Massachusetts General Hospital
School of Nursing 1961*

Foreword

No need to be amazed that we couldn't capture the intangibles in this book; only words and photographs can be summarized. While we are taking inventory of the past three years, let us not forget those things a yearbook can't record; the sadness of leaving our student days, yet the happiness in entering a new life, one that will give us more room, more maturity, and more money.

Memories are tangible symbols of the past. There have been many . . . our first day on the wards, the miracle of birth, Capping, and our first interne check. Memories are precious, they can never be purchased; their values lie within.

As an expression of our appreciation for your fine leadership and friendly understanding, we, the Class of 1961, dedicate our yearbook, Checks, to you, Miss Frances Gibbons and Mrs. Ruth Pitt. For the past three years as our class advisors, you have given help when and encouragement when needed, guidance when sought, and praise when earned.

Dear Seniors,

Now you are to be graduate nurses, soon to be R.N.'s. How differently do you view the role which lies ahead? Often this year you must have wondered just how next year will differ. True, this year you have moved closer almost each day to graduate responsibilities, for this is the fundamental purpose of your internship. But still there are differences.

Filling the role of the graduate nurse is not only to do nursing in its best sense day by day. There are other roles to be played. All are important to the fulfillment of a useful, happy life. Here I shall mention only two.

The first of these is an integral part of nursing. It is the role which expresses professional responsibility in the broad sense. It includes membership in the Alumnae Association, the continuing fulfillment of responsibility to your School; membership in the professional organizations, the life-long opportunity to share with colleagues in the broad contribution of Nursing to the welfare of all people. Membership is the first step, but it will take active participation to find and fill the role to be played.

The second of these roles which make the difference is citizenship. What part can you play as a woman? What can you offer your city, your suburb, your neighborhood? Can you help in the schools, in the women's organizations, in the girls' clubs?

Of course there are differences between student and graduate opportunity. There will be no "try outs" for these new roles, no Glee Club Director or faculty advisor. Often there will be no one to say "thank you." But you will know when criticism is justified, and you will sense the deep appreciation then as you must have now in your student role.

Congratulations for the past; success and satisfaction in your future, these are the wishes which come as you graduate from all the members of the Faculty and the Nursing Service.

Way back
when...

THAYER HOUSE

92 CHARLES STREET

Most of us can recall with amazing lucidity our very first days at M.G.H. Among the trunks, relatives, and road maps a feeling experienced by all the newcomers emerged; a mixture of fear and trepidation, the first of a great number of feelings to bind these strangers in a common bond.

Our first memories include the tea given in our honor on Bulfinch Lawn, the pizza party during which we became acquainted with our big sisters and a few of our classmates, and the orientation classes in UOPD during which we wrote autobiographies, answered quizzes, and learned the do's and don't's of living in Boston.

MISS GIBBONS

MRS. PITT,

Almost immediately we plunged wholeheartedly into our first six-month period and Anatomy and Physiology, Chemistry, Microbiology, Pharmacology and, later, Nursing Arts.

Will any of us ever forget WHG2, a certain record player with its "This is another in a series . . ." sounds of voices singing, "Getting to Know You," and the nervous group of Freshmen in rather starched but proudly worn uniforms preparing to swarm upon the Clinics to "talk to patients"? We gradually progressed from Clinics to the ward situation giving those all-important back rubs to unsuspecting patients. (In addition to learning to give back-rubs, make beds, communicate with patients, we learned to make ourselves scarce when doctors and head nurses were looking our way. During these times we became painfully aware of the insides of utility rooms, linen closets, etc.).

It was also about this time that we began to participate in nursing practice labs in the old familiar TCR and NLN. We were being introduced to various nursing procedures as making occupied beds, giving bed baths, taking temperatures, and administering medications. About this time the Freshmen vocabulary was comprised almost exclusively of the following, "I haven't been evaluated yet . . .," much to the dismay of other hospital personnel.

But despite the nervousness and tension during the day, we could usually find fun and frolic back at the dormitory.

Cynthia Lawrence, Betty Adamski, and Connie Potter. (Missing—Patricia Hood)

The class as a whole established itself and in the Fall elected its officers: President, Cynthia Lawrence; Vice-President, Elizabeth Adamski; Secretary, Patricia Hood; Treasurer, Constance Potter.

Prior to our two week vacation at Christmas, we had the pleasure of participating in the Candle Light Service at Old North Church.

Our next class activity was planned and occurred on February 13 when "Cupid's Rendezvous" was held in Bartlett Hall and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who participated.

Many of us thought that our studies had ended with the last of our formal classes in the basic sciences. However, we quickly realized they were just beginning as we launched on our Medical-Surgical Nursing course which was to occupy the greater part of our time until late August.

When we were not studying for Med-Surg. exams or working on the wards, we were walking along the Esplanade, enjoying the magnolia trees and flowers in the Public Gardens, or relaxing on a June night to listen to the Boston Pops perform in the Hatch Memorial Shell.

Summer was upon us and we were taking refreshing dips in the MDC pool and sunning ourselves on Thayer House roof.

A class picnic on the Bulfinch lawn was added to our list of summer happenings and after toiling through finals in Med-Surg. we concluded our first year at the MGH and awaited our second year with mixed feelings. We had heard that this year-to-be proved to be a rather enjoyable period. Although we were experiencing some "fear of the unknown"; we were eagerly looking forward to the "moving around."

Studying for Med-Surg. Exams

The beginning of our second year also marked another important period in our short careers as students. We would be separated from the other sections of our class for the entire year. Because of this separation, the ties among the groups would be broken.

MRS. HIBBARD

Another group of class officers was elected in the fall. They were: President, Virginia Kaczmarek; Vice-President, Maureen McGrath; Secretary, Anne-Marie Hanson; and Treasurer, Maureen Grant.

Pediatrics! The three months of our training which was reminiscent of our childhood days. Many memorable times were had here: playroom time where we lost our patience but also lost our hearts, bath time when we, plus all other articles in the area, emerged wet, and relief time with its bedtime stories and the final silence after a long day.

If we appeared disheveled in our uniforms before Pedi we looked disgraceful while working there. An assortment of foods, paint, and medicines regularly added color to our white aprons (checks, caps, hair, shoes, etc.). Because of the difficulty in administering oral medications to the kiddies we became familiar with the taste of liquid Chloromycetin, Erythromycin, and Gantrisin.

MISS McSWEENEY, MRS. HAESSLER, and MISS TRIPP.

MISS FRANKLAND

At Boston-Lying-In we were introduced to a different kind of nursing care.

Will anyone ever forget the mystery of trying to get that turban on right the first time? It was amazing to see the variety of ways a piece of material, five feet long, could be wrapped around one's head.

Postpartum and the Richardson House floors bring back their own special memories of working charge relief, AM checks, and anxious fathers. The Nursery afforded us an enjoyable change. The babies were adorably cute and cuddly. In the Labor and Delivery rooms we learned to time contractions and experienced the satisfaction of watching babies being born, each succeeding birth a new, entirely different wonder of Nature. That first baby and the eager anticipation of its first cry will always remain among our fondest memories.

We accompanied our Clinic Mothers through each stage of their Antepartum, worried about their labor, watched their deliveries, cared for their babies, and visited them during the Post-partum period.

Among our other pleasant memories of BLI are the parties, the food, which was delicious, and the fun in the dormitories.

MRS. ECKSTROM

X-Y-Z was another most enjoyable but varied experience. Of course, X (or was it Y or Z), that is, vacation, was the rotation about which most students talked and planned. In Y and Z we learned a little about the ambulatory patient, and, the extreme opposite, the completely bedridden orthopedic and fracture patient.

MRS. HORTON,

MRS. BOGG

MISS HAMILTON

We became entangled in balanced suspension, lost our cpas on tops of traction, ripped our aprons on bolts, screws, and nuts, became confused about the way to turn patients, developed our biceps to an amazing degree, and learned to exercise good body mechanics.

At McLean we tried to learn a little about the reasons people act and react as they do.

MR. MALLINSON and MISS LADD

Here we enjoyed a strikingly permissive atmosphere. PAA functions, and coffee at the Coffee Shop. We appreciate the memories of the long tunnels, the green door. "You're a nice girl." the lovely countryside, informal classes, parties, walks to the drug store and snack bar in the Square, subway rides into Boston and many, many more.

The sections of the class got together as we sponsored a successful Christmas Dance at 20 Charles Street. We also extended our good wishes to the Seniors a short time before their graduation by having a Junior-Senior Reception in their honor.

The Yearbook Committees were formed in the summer and during that same time we had a picnic and a lemonade and cookie sale.

In September we left our second year behind and began our third year, the Internship.

At capping we removed our short squat caps and replaced them with our tall caps in an impressive ceremony at the Museum of Science.

As we donned our Interne caps we were experiencing even greater fears concerning this year that loomed ominously ahead of us. We were afraid of our feelings of inadequacy, and of the responsibility that we would be compelled to learn to accept easily in the months to follow.

We moved to Bartlett Hall at different times throughout the first part of the year and observed the hospital from a different view.

MRS. WHITE

We watched the seasons change on Bulfinch Lawn, the destruction and reconstruction in the West End; we played tennis, croquette, used our recreation room, and spent long hours in the kitchens.

We were beginning to see nursing in an entirely different light as we worked and studied preparing ourselves for Graduation. We learned new skills, added to our knowledge, began to feel more secure, and learned to accept responsibility. These were days of greatest joy, deepest depression, and warmest satisfaction. We laughed, wept, joked, sang and talked together.

After Hours . . .

MISS HOLLERAN and MISS HARDEMAN,
COORDINATOR—3rd YEAR

Practicing First Aid

We plodded through Disaster Nursing, First Aid, Operating Room, The Conference and You, Team Nursing, and learned a great deal from each of them.

MISS LEPPER

MISS CAHILL and ELSWORTH

Interne Days . . .

Mrs. Flaherty
A familiar sight on payday.

During our senior year, we took part in the second annual Convocation at which we sang "The Lord's Prayer" as the Invocation.

Our fond memories of M.G.H. will always occupy some segment in our hearts. However, we must not forever look back. We must look to the future, for therein we will discover the resolvment of energies that we exerted in the past.
